HOPES AND FEARS
ZIONISM PROTESTS
A REALLY FAST PLANE
THE SALMON INDUSTRY

—By Arthur Brisbane—
(Copyright 1930 By King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

THE WORLD is full of hopes and fears, especially fears.

Chairman Legge, of the farm board, believes that farm products have reached bottom prices. The farmer hopes so.

Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, formerly president of the German Reichsbank, predicts a halt in reparations payments by Germany.

Britain hopes that the United States will "have a heart" and voluntarily reduce the already reduced payment on the British debt.

Our foreign credits will admit that when another war starts, Uncle Sam will be justified in moving slowly towards fresh foreign loans—even if we are told that Germany or Mesopotamia may come over and eat us alive.

ZIONISTS, intent on rebuilding the Jewish homeland in Palestine, attack savagely recent utterances and decisions of the British government, which has the Palestine mandate.

Britain proposes to stop, or greatly curtail, Jewish immigration into Palestine.

Jewish organizations accuse the British of putting the welfare of Arabs, who have been in Palestine for seven hundred years, ahead of Zionist welfare.

The British do not mention it, but they have more than 100,000,000 Mohammedans in the empire, and, at most, three or four million Jews. They do not want to annoy the Mohammedans by irritating Arabs, who are also Mohammedans.

Inspiring news from Germany, where at this moment they are building a plane intended to fly 35,000 feet above the earth, at 500 to 800 miles an hour, to make the trip from Berlin to New York in six hours. That will come in time, although this machine may have its troubles.

The plane, with a "fish-like" body, will draw in its wheels and other landing gear. Oxygen will be fed to the engine passengers will travel in an air-tight compartment, manufacturing their atmosphere as they go along.

We may have our slumps and industrial stoppages, but science doesn't stop.

THE ENTIRE SALMON industry is important to the people, and the prosperity of the United States, meets in Seattle today to discuss problems including over-production and reckless price cutting.

WOMEN TO WORK FOR McCULLOCH

W. C. T. U. Votes To Stage Campaign In Behalf Of U. S. Senator; May Sponsor Parades

YOUNGSTOWN, Oct. 22.—The Ohio Women's Christian Temperance union in annual convention here, will actively work for the election of Senator Roscoe C. McCulloch over his Democratic opponent, Robert J. Bulkley of Cleveland.

The convention will be asked to approve a recommendation that the organization sponsor parades and dry meetings throughout the state to defeat wet candidates. A resolution also will be presented opposing Bulkley, who has declared in favor of repeal of the 18th amendment. Funds for dry rallies have been voted by the trustees.

BULLETIN

AACHEN, GERMANY, Oct. 22.—Hope of rescuing coal miners trapped in the darkness of the lower depth of the Wilhelm pit, where 231 persons were killed was revived today when unmistakable signals from the entombed men again were heard by rescuers.

The miners, believed to number about 53 but possibly including a score of others still alive, have been entombed for a day and a half about 1300 feet below the surface.

AACHEN, GERMANY, Oct. 22.—Hope for the rescue of between 80 and 100 entombed miners in the Wilhelm coal mine faded rapidly today after the bodies of 231 of their comrades had been recovered. The mine was wrecked by a terrific explosion yesterday. It rocked the region for miles with the force of an earthquake and destroyed buildings and shattered windows within a wide area.

The number of injured was still not definitely determined, for many of the men who grouped their way to safety through the maze of tunnels in the large mining district hurried to their families without reporting to mine officials. Latest estimates placed the injured at 98, but the figure was not official.

SALEM SETTLES DISPOSAL CASES

Agreement Reached When Suits Appear Before Court Tuesday

Two of Salem's trunk line sewer damage cases, in which an aggregate amount of $15,000 was demanded from the city, were settled in common pleas court on Tuesday, when the jury to which the cases were to have been tried was dismissed for the day.

The case sustained those of John Sox and Nick Weingart against the city, each plaintiff being a resident of Green township, Mahoning county near where the trunk line sewer of the city of Salem empties into First Culvert creek north of the city. The cases were filed four years ago and have never been tried.

Both Sox and Weingart claimed to have been in the cattle and stock raising business on their small farms, and charged the city with having ruined the waters of their farms, which flowed through their farms, and also the pasture on the farms by reason of the overflow at times of the creek and the washing of refuse from the sewer over their land.

Sox asked $10,000 and Weingart $5,000 damages.

City Solicitor Cecil K. Scott represented the city in the cases and made a report of the settlements at the council meeting Tuesday night.

Ralph Emmons Hurt In Auto Collision

Ralph W. Emmons, of Columbus, chairman of the state civil service commission, sustained head injuries Sunday when the auto in which he was riding figured in a three-car collision at High street and Third avenue, Columbus.

He was taken to White Cross hospital, where his condition is reported fairly good. His son, who was driving, was not injured.

Emmons, a native of East Rochester, formerly represented Columbiana county in the state legislature. He and his son were in Salem last Thursday when they accompanied the McCulloch-Murphy tour through the county.

McCULLOCH SEES TARIFF AS KEY TO HIGH WAGES

Standards Of Living In America Dependent On High Tariff Rate

BULKLEY ATTACKED FOR WET PLATFORM

Democrat Fails To Offer Constructive Stand, Senator States

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, Oct. 22.—Assertions that American standards of living depended upon a high tariff and restrictive immigration as approved by the Republican national administration were made by United States Senator Roscoe C. McCulloch in a campaign speech here last night.

Declaring business depression was world-wide and that America would be the first to recover from it, McCulloch took exception to recent statements of John W. Barton, vice president of the American Bankers' association, whom he quoted as saying "our tariff is too high and our wages are too high."

The high tariff, the senator said, is needed now more than ever to keep American markets closed to foreign labor and foreign-made products. He added that Barton's view was that of an "internationalist."

McCulloch said Robert J. Bulkley, Democratic senatorial candidate, opposed the high tariff and restrictive immigration, reiterating his stand for enforcement of prohibition. McCulloch said Bulkley had failed to suggest a satisfactory substitute for the 18th amendment, which he would repeal.

Senator McCulloch's address was broadcast from Radio Stations WAIU here and WLW, Cincinnati. Former congressman Everett Stanger, secretary to President Coolidge during 1925-29, also spoke at a Republican rally here, declaring that "nothing will bring us back again to full time employment and satisfactory agricultural rehabilitation like the economic policies of the Republican party."

Mullins Employee Hurt At Factory

Ray Fawcett, of North Ellsworth, is confined to his home suffering from an injury to his left foot sustained in an accident about 4 p. m. Tuesday at the Mullins Manufacturing corporation, where he is employed.

An electric truck ran over Fawcett's foot, crushing it. He was taken to Salem City hospital for X-ray examination and later to his home.

McCulloch For Senator

(Editorial)

With a full realization that our interests are exactly the same as those of the voters who read this newspaper, The News sincerely believes that Senator Roscoe C. McCulloch should be reelected to the United States senate. We believe that all of us find ourselves today facing the necessity of studying candidates more carefully than ever before. Prohibition, the tariff, immigration, industrial prosperity, employment—all of these vital issues are placed in the hands of the men we send to Washington. Recommendation of a particular candidate is, therefore, a serious responsibility.

This newspaper believes that the business and moral interests of Ohio will be served best by having Senator McCulloch continue working for us in Washington. We definitely and sincerely recommend Senator McCulloch as against Robert J. Bulkley on the strength of the comparison of the two candidates and the major principles for which they stand.

We endorse Senator McCulloch because he opposes opening the doors of the United States to unrestricted immigration when the country already has a serious problem in man-power absorption. We endorse him likewise for his support of a tariff policy that is designed to protect the American working man, the farmer and American business generally.

Senator McCulloch promises nothing beyond the bounds of reason. He is not a political spell-binder as candidates go, but he is known as a clean living citizen and family man, intelligent, dependable and sincere. More than that, he is a capable legislator.

Mr. Bulkley's campaign for the repeal of the 18th amendment is obviously a vote-getting gesture on which he cannot make good. We could not have, through his senatorial activities if he were elected, a bottle of whisky, if that be what we want, nor can we take the 18th amendment out of the constitution since that drastic step would require the positive action of 36 state legislative bodies. Mr. Bulkley proposes to repeal the amendment and throw the whole legal problem, one of the most serious questions this and the next generation will have to face, back into the laps of the separate states. This would mean chaos. Senator McCulloch is openly opposed to any such willy-nilly plan and in this we are strictly in agreement with him.

Our stand should not be taken in any sense as a comparison of the characters of Senator McCulloch and Robert Bulkley. We simply believe that by returning McCulloch to the senate Ohio will contribute substantially to the job of settling down to business more quickly, more certainly and more permanently.

Miniature Golf To Cost Owners Here

A plan whereby license fees will be charged to owners and operators of miniature golf courses in Salem was presented by Mayor J. M. Davidson to city council Tuesday night.

Davidson requested the ordinance committee of council to draft an ordinance fixing an annual license fee for both indoor and outdoor courses. The committee will confer with City Solicitor Cecil Scott and the mayor and present an ordinance at the next regular meeting.

DIRECTOR AIDS WORK IN CITY

Service Director Receives Comment From Council For Aid To Men

Service Director Clyde R. Reich was commended for his work in giving employment to men during the past summer at the meeting of city council held Tuesday night.

Reich was given congratulations by President Geo. F. Koonz following a plan submitted by Councilman Max Adler for the raising of a bond issue to provide additional salaries for men during the winter months.

Koonz, in discussing the issue, favored it but explained that the service director had accomplished much in granting employment to a record-breaking number of men during the summer and that the status of the city's financial condition presented action on the matter in any other way than through Reich's department.

No Time Wasted By Solons In Completion Of City's Business

Absence of two members of council, Samuel Krauss and John C. Litty, prevented action by the legislative body on ordinances scheduled for passage at last night's meeting.

Ordinances pertaining to the improvement of East State street and other important matters were brought up during the meeting because of their importance and the group will meet in an adjourned session at 7 p. m. Friday.

No time is wasted by the present council in getting things over despite the fact that as much, and probably more, important business has been transacted this year than any in a decade. City business is the only matter brought up for discussion.

There is no bickering on matters—President Geo. F. Koonz sees to that—and all is completed in business-like manner.

Absent: Forced Councilman-at-large Litty was unable to attend the meeting last night because of electorship engagements—the solon is a candidate for county treasurer on the Republican ticket—while Krauss was detained at his place of employment and was unable to appear until late. The meeting was over when he turned up shortly before 9 p. m.

COUNCIL MOVES TO ALTER CITY WARD DISTRICTS

Redistricting Of City's Wards Or Addition Of Precincts Planned

PRESIDENT KOONTZ ADVOCATE OF PLAN

Committee To Cooperate With Officials; Will Give Report Soon

Plans for the re-districting of the city of Salem to include sections in the territory of Perry township recently annexed by the municipality in city's four wards, were discussed by city council at its meeting held at city hall Tuesday night.

Need of the change in the city's ward boundaries and the addition of precincts was presented to council by the body's president, Geo. F. Koonz, who instructed the ordinance committee to confer with City Solicitor Cecil K. Scott and City Engineer F. S. Barckhoff concerning the project.

The ordinance committee was urged to rush its investigation into the matter and submit a report at the next regular meeting of council which will be held Thursday, November 6.

Township Asks Action

The matter was discussed by council members after Councilman Leslie R. Cobb told them that Perry township trustees were asking action in determining what part the city shall bear in the improvement of Pigeon road south of Salem. Barckhoff explained that the cost of paving will in all probability be shared between the township and city.

Members of council, with Barckhoff, Scott and Service Director Clyde R. Reich were asked by Koonz to visit the scene of the proposed improvement and submit a report at the next meeting.

It has been several years since changes have been made in boundaries of wards, it was explained by council Barckhoff told the body that no changes need be made in boundaries of the four wards and that the addition of precincts will take care of the project.

A full report will be submitted by the ordinance committee, headed by Cobb, on both matters in the November session.

OFFICIALS WILL MARCH NOV. 11

Invitations Accepted By Mayor, Council To Take Part In Parade

Salem city officials, headed by Mayor John M. Davidson, will participate in the annual Armistice day parade which will be held here on the afternoon of Tuesday, November 11.

An invitation from Charles H. Carey post No. 56, American Legion, was submitted to members of council Tuesday night. It was accepted and a motion passed that councilmen march in the parade in a body.

The invitation to council was directed to President Geo. F. Koonz. A similar communication was sent Mayor Davidson, who accepted in behalf of other officials.

The parade will form in front of the legion home, East State street, at 1:30 p. m. on Armistice day. A special program is being planned by the legion post in honor of this city's war dead.

Barn, Grain, Cattle Destroyed In Fire

LISBON, Oct. 22.—A horse, two cows, a calf and three dogs, hay, grain and farm machinery were burned in a barn fire near the Charles Ketchum farm near West Beaver church, at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday.

The fire was discovered by Mrs. Ketchum, who was alone in the home at the time. The loss is partially covered by insurance.

RAILROADS PLAN SIX-HOUR WORK DAY IN FUTURE

Unions See Shorter Day As Solution To U. S. Unemployment

GROUPS TO GATHER IN CHICAGO NOV. 12

Business Depression Over Country Reported To Increase Problem

CLEVELAND, Oct. 22.—A six-hour working day will be sought by the railroad labor unions as their solution of the unemployment problem.

In the same manner that they finally obtained the eight-hour day 12 years ago, 700 representatives of the seven labor organizations of the railroad industry in the United States and Canada will meet in Chicago November 12 to lay out a campaign for a six-hour day.

For more than a year, it was revealed in union records, the operating side of the railroad industry has been confronted with an increasing unemployment situation. Thousands of younger members of the unions have been made idle by the current business depression, while other thousands have been forced from their jobs by the unification of lines and the inroads of bus transportation on some divisions.

Six-Hour Day Necessary
A V. R. Whitney, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, said the six-hour day is now a necessity and that at the Chicago conference committees will be organized to campaign all over the country to shave two hours from the working day just as they did in the historic 1916 fight which cut the working day from 10 to eight hours.

Whitney said a five day week was a more popular suggestion in the shopcraft division and among office workers, but that for the operating unions the six-hour day is the more feasible plan because it is better suited to train services.

"Something like a 40 or 42-hour week seems the most logical working arrangement for the operating unions," he said.

McCULLOCH NEW RETAILERS HEAD

Salem Business Bureau Names Its Officers At Annual Meeting Tuesday Evening

R. S. McCulloch was elected president of the Salem Business bureau at the annual meeting Tuesday night at the Memorial building.

V. R. McBane was elected vice president and C. W. Kaminsky, R. L. Hutcheson and B. F. Hansell were elected members of the executive committee.

J. R. Stratton, retiring president, was chairman of the meeting that followed dinner. F. J. Emery, president of the board of education, and J. S. Alan, superintendent of schools spoke in favor of the bond issue for $385,000 to erect a new high school building.

EARL R. LEWIS TO SPEAK AT AFFAIR

75 Republicans To Attend Dinner At Elks' Home; Rally At 7:30

Salem Republicans will be hosts at a dinner at 6 o'clock tonight at the Elks home in honor of Gov. Myers V. Cooper.

County Chairman John H. Irwin of East Palestine and Frank J. Ekstein of Salem went to Ashtabula this morning to meet the governor and his party and escort them to Salem.

Plans are to have the governor arrive in this city early enough this afternoon to make a hasty swing through the county, returning to Salem in time for the dinner.

About 75 will attend this dinner, including a few from other points in the county. No program is scheduled for the Elks home, but the governor and his party will go directly from there to the Memorial building for the public meeting at 7:30.

An opportunity will be given friends to meet the governor before the meeting opens.

E. M. Peters will preside over the program which will be confined to talks by Gov. Cooper and Earl R. Lewis of St. Clairsville, chairman of the state Republican committee and candidate for state senator in this district.

ACCIDENTS SHOW HEAVY DECLINE IN PAST MONTH

Report Of Ohio Industries Lists Less Mishaps Than In August

Continued reduction of both accident frequency and severity in Ohio industries is shown by the statistical report of the division of safety and hygiene for September and the percentages of decrease were well in excess of the estimated one per cent decrease in industrial employment for the month as compared with August.

There were 17,580 accidents in September, of which number 99 represented fatalities, 129 caused permanent disability, 3,977 resulted in seven days or less, 2,098 seven days or less and 11,286 were medical cases causing no time loss, the total time loss chargeable to all accidents being 793,733 days. In the preceding month there were 19,043 accidents, with 99 fatalities and a time loss of 811,813 days, a reduction in September of 1,463 accidents, nine fatalities and 19,080 days time loss.

VOTERS DISCUSS SCHOOL ISSUES

Lectonia Consolidated District Will Hold Meeting Tonight At Washingtonville

WASHINGTONVILLE, Oct. 22.—The three mill levy, which will come before the voters of the Lectonia consolidated school district at the November election, will be discussed at a meeting at 7:30 tonight in the school auditorium.

Without this levy the high school will lose its rating—that of a first grade high school—and there will be but eight months of school, it is stated.

The program will include selections by pupils of the school. Parents and voters are asked to attend.

Lauds Speaker

SAN LOUIS OBISPO, Cal., Oct. 22.—See in the papers where Speaker Longworth could have quite a race in the coming election. That's mighty unusual for Nick, and it would just about border on a national calamity if he was defeated.

I have talked with a lot of those old Democratic congressmen that have served with him for years, and they all say he is one of the most able and fairest men that has ever been in the House. Why, I think Garner, the Democratic leader, would resign if he didn't have his old pal Nick there.

Let the Democrats make a lot of gains, but let's keep Nick. He is pretty near one of us. Yours, Will Rogers

A TIP

There is general agreement that the country is enjoying an unusually exciting off-year campaign. The fighting is heavy and furious in many states, with Ohio itself ranking second or third in interest from a national viewpoint. But there is something lacking.

Political buttons. That's it. They are noticeable by their absence in this campaign, just as they have been to an increasing degree ever since the radio offered a new way to reach the public. Somewhere not far distant, if recollection serves us faithfully, is a collection of campaign buttons in the middle right-hand drawer of an old-fashioned treadle sewing machine, where a disillusioned young politician dumped them after a disheartening campaign, some years ago. Great days those, when a politician could get as good results from plastering campaign buttons on horse bridges, small boys' coats and grandmothers' shawls as he could by speaking logic and oratory into a microphone.

Vote for Jones, or Vote for Smith. The order was always positive. Occasionally, and effort to establish a helpful mental association would be tried, such as: "Vote for Smith and the Rights of Left-Handed Barbers, or Elect Jones and Tell Your Cellar with Cool."

It is with surprise, therefore, that we hear of a campaign button gone modern. Consistent with the 1930 attitude, it bears one word, "No." There it is for all to see and interpret as they will. It must be added in justice that the button is circulated in Rhode Island where voters are to decide: "Shall the 18th amendment be retained?" Evidently one faction has decided that it shall not.

But, and this is an aside to campaign button makers, here's the germ of a great industry. It is commonplace in American politics that people are more inclined to vote "again" than "for" something or somebody. Every voter should be pleased to wear a political button with the bald inscription "No" on it. He can make it apply to anything the observer has in mind. For instance: "Observer (to himself): 'Is this man wet?'" The Button—"No." Next Observer (also to himself): "Is this man dry?" The Button—"No." Even politicians could wear them.

Another bit of modernity imposed on an old-fashioned piece of political equipment is described to us also. It seems that George White, Democratic candidate for governor, has issued political buttons on which nothing is printed. The buttons are plain white—and that is the answer when curious persons ask the meaning. Most convenient. A new platform or a new name could be inscribed at will. Another tip for the button makers.

The virtual absence of the campaign button in the current campaign should be a boon to school teachers. What great jabbers they made when the celluloid front was cut off and the pointed wire straightened out—preferably during geography recitations.

INFORMATION—OPINION

Vol. 1, No. 1 of a newspaper whose articles will be quoted widely during the next two weeks was distributed to thousands of central points in the United States Monday. The paper was Washington, a "journal of information and opinion concerning the operation of the national government." The paper, tabloid in size, is published with the cooperation of the Republican National committee and is, of course, openly Republican. In substance, it will be the voice of the Republican party.

The first issue of the paper, on whose editorial staff are William Allen White, Will Irwin, David Hinshaw, Maurice Frink, George M. Hinshaw and J. L. Blackman, Jr., is a partial record of the accomplishments and policies of the present Republican administration. The record is not presented in an attitude of boasting but in such a tone as one would expect a friend to assume if he were to explain why he believed in certain principles. In every sense, it is a constructive compilation. The Democratic party is not criticized openly, with the possible exception of a short poem by Arthur Guiterman. The first four lines of the poem read:

The Builder toils for what shall bless

Our time and future years;

The carper vents his idleness

In groans and growls and sneers.

Of particular interest in the first edition of Washington is William Allen White's description of President Hoover's attitude toward the presidency. Mr. White sets the president apart because he rose to the presidency through executive leadership rather than through legislative leadership. "He is continually reiterating the need of simplicity at the furthest point of the executive arm of the government. He knows too much to be complacent about the danger of delegating broad powers to men far away from his desk, where the government touches the people in quick and sensitive first relations. Corruption and tyranny begin right here!" Mr. White writes.

There is an urgent need for a newspaper of Washington's kind. Written and edited by men of principle and solid conviction it can do much in the remaining days before November 4 to provide ready arguments for the use of Republican workers. Like the administration it is pledged to support, the paper will be founded on constructive action and will use constructive arguments.

"Nobody ever scratched anyone in my family and got away with it," sneered Jack Diamond.

What Others Say

ON RADIO LINES

A curious situation comes to light in the statement that the United States is losing out in the scramble for the unexplored regions of the air over the ocean. Foreign nations have been preempting the radio channels by registering their rights to the limited number of remaining frequencies. By international agreement transoceanic frequencies are allotted to a basis of priority in registration. American companies have been prevented from entering the field because of injunctions issued by the court of appeals at Washington in the continental short-wave litigation. In behalf of certain wireless interests former General Counsel Caldwell of the federal radio commission has asked for an annulment of present restrictions.

Meanwhile overseas the "squatters" are taking possession of the atmosphere. Nearly a century ago the slavery question gave Uncle Sam his problems with squatters in unorganized states of the West. That was a free-soil controversy and solely an internal one. It has had no concern with abroad. Nor are we disturbed now by agrarian questions beyond our shores. But the atmosphere—well that is something else. It may be necessary to deal with these air-sitters much as the average parent dealt with tree-sitting offspring the past summer; avoid coercion and acquiesce long enough to let the child come to its senses in its own way.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

NEW YORK Day by Day

by O.O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Central Park soothes a transplanted New Yorker's nostalgia for open spaces. A makeshift, of course, for truly rural beauty and solitude, but every hour it is dotted with harassed city dwellers seeking escape from the incessant clatter all about them.

This breathing spot rib-near the playing heart of the town is the only place remaining for leisurely strolls and studied contemplation. Five minutes from the stirring jangle of Columbus Circle one comes upon a milk-and-liver-colored cow chewing a cud of bovine contentment.

A short space further on and a shepherd with a magnificent snowy collie stands under a tree watching sheep grazing and flicking their tails. Ladies with tiny sun parasols jog by in horse-drawn landaus with a patrician pomp. Old men under spreading umbrellas swing croquet mallets on the greensward.

Along the Mall children of the rich ride on rented Shetlands or in goat-pulled carts. Squirrels scamper through the foliage, and tucked here and there are martin boxes and martin boxes and whitewashed dove cotes. Elderly ladies in silk hats gallop side saddle alongside youngsters astride in bloomers.

On cool, murmurous paths siting the beautiful Shakespearean flower gardens are benches for hand holders, and one sequestered spot, where discreet policemen walk by scanning the clouds, is known as "Lover's Lane." In the moonlight, gleaming ashens is the Egyptian obelisk—fashioned before the birth of the Saviour.

Painters perch on grassy knolls and in the crags of rocky cliffs to imprison the beauty of skylines on canvas. And frequently stretched out on the grass is a poet with long hair and Byronic collar, nibbling at the end of a lead pencil. Dreaming a deathless elegy.

After midnight, when Broadway's electric swaggers grow dim, Central Park is breathless in a hushed rapture. There is a tender gravity about the trees, fugitive paths and the pale lamps strung like so many beads about shadowy lawns. At such times many feel very near the unsolvable mystery.

Charlie Towne used to tell of a movie actor strolling in Central Park with a chorus lady at the entrancing hour when the moon had hung a slight scimitar in the sky and the swirling stars shimmered in lacey loveliness. "Say, baby," he chirped, "you should see Hollywood, where all this junk comes from."

It was Col. Roosevelt, while Governor, who saved Central Park for posterity and from the real estate marauders. It escaped sub-division and a real estate boom by an eyelash. Yet frequent strollings in Central Park have not revealed a monument to T. R. in the area. A heroic one in bronze should be flung up by a grateful citizenry. If there is one—rub this out.

A most uncomfortable moment was experienced in Central Park while jogging it around the reservoir gravel path with a dog ten years ago. Out of the way of motor traffic and pedestrians I unleashed the dog and tossed a stick for him to retrieve. A misdirected throw landed the stick in a tree where it began to rattle through dry, stark branches over the bridge path. A lady on a skittish horse galloped by. The horse belted while I stood petrified as she teetered perilously for a mad quarter mile. A mounted policeman brought the horse fawning to a stop.

The gracious lady was considerate enough to wheel about, return and relieve my frenzy of sheer terror. Should she read this, I'd like her to know I still remember her with grateful reverence, although too horrified to express myself at the time.

Too, there was a memorable insult in Central Park. Listening to a band concert, a gentleman on the "lunch" bench, who was no Lillian Russell himself, the mug, observed: "A band concert surely attracts us, homely guys."

I wonder if others keeping house have also collected innumerable clocks that will not run. It was a hope to add to the pleasant drone of domesticity with the tick of one of those gaunt hall clocks. But no matter where it starts, in a few hours it somehow gets back to 18 minutes of six and ticks.

It is such an idiotic clock it wouldn't surprise me any day if it suddenly flew open and Ed Wynn stuck his foot head out.

Twenty Years Ago

(Issue of Oct. 22, 1910)

Dr. H. A. Thompson, of Dayton, prohibition candidate for governor of Ohio, spoke Thursday evening near the Broadway fountain.

I. N. Russell, superintendent of Salem's waterworks department has filed a report of his first year's work. The report shows great care and economy in management.

Dr. Elsie Blackburn, returned missionary from Africa, will speak at a missionary rally on Oct. 23, at 1 o'clock.

Miss Josephine Taber, of Seattle, Wash., was honored at a luncheon Friday given by Miss Judith T. Brooks of Highland avenue.

Mrs. W. R. Miller, Euclid street, sustained two fractured ribs in a fall in the barn at her home.

A party of Salem men took an automobile ride to Akron Thursday night and had an oyster supper at Young's. In the company were C. S. Carr, D. L. Davis, D. W. Davis, F. W. Silver, R. W. Campbell, F. R. Fox, C. C. Gibson and John Bussard.

Mrs. W. D. Turner of Lisbon, formerly of Salem, attended the "Never-Grow-Old" party, at the home of Mr. W. E. Linn, McKinley avenue.

Invitations were issued Friday for a Halloween dance on Oct. 27 at Calumet hall. The hostesses are Misses Miriam Reese, Hazel and Winifred Linn, Bessie Smith, Zora Lingo and Frances Greenberger.

A number of former stars of the gridiron have organized a football team, and on Saturday afternoon will journey to Washingtonville to play a team there. In the lineup are: Gray, Walker, Zelle, C. Jewell, Stitt, Farmer, B. Allen Harroff, Scullion, Holway, Hasty and Schulte.

F. J. Dean, this city, will represent the local Red Men at the annual district meeting, which will be held Saturday at Canton.

Scarlet Fever's Dangers
Of all the contagious diseases of childhood, scarlet fever has always been one that a mother most feared. In these days of treatment by vaccine, the old-time dread of the disease has diminished considerably.

Scarlet fever is highly contagious. Its contagiousness does not depend upon the severity. The person with a very mild case may give to another a most malignant type.

Practically all the infectious or contagious diseases begin in the same way. The first evidence is vomiting, or in the case of a child, it may be a convulsion. Almost immediately the temperature goes up. Then we find the patient complaining of a sore throat. There is likely, too, to be intense fever.

After a few hours a rash appears on the chest, after and neck. In the course of two or three days the rash spreads over the entire body, beginning above and gradually extending downward. The rash is not at all like measles, where the eruption first appears on the cheeks.

After about six days there is a peeling of the skin. There is a very peculiar appearance of the tongue, which is called "strawberry" tongue.

The complications of scarlet fever are many and some are quite serious. It is no wonder that a mother, if it is not forgotten at the thought of her child going through the dangers of the disease.

It is not at all uncommon to have broncho-pneumonia develop. The heart may give way or the kidneys may become involved. The joints sometimes become red and tender as in rheumatism. There are other serious complications.

Scarlet fever is contagious from the very first symptoms until all the peeling and discharge from the ears disappear. This time covers a period of at least 40 days.

The usual term of incubation is a week or ten days. In rare cases it may come on as quickly as three or four days after exposure.

At the slightest suspicion of scarlet fever, a doctor should be called. Early attention is important.

It used to be considered a children's ailment, but an adult exposed to it may have the disease. Every precaution should be taken to keep a scarlet fever patient isolated so as not to expose others.

The Stars Say—

For Thursday, October 23
A very propitious planetary configuration in dominant position on this day should assist to easy movement towards high goals of ambition and enterprise. New plans and contracts, financial or speculative investments should thrive, especially if the assistance of these in places of position and power be sought for furthering these projects. However a note of warning may be sounded against intrigue or underhanded methods in making these agreements.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a fruitful year, with success in important ventures, speculation, investments and new projects with increase of finances and decisive approach to the goal of ambitions. Persons of position and authority may assist. Nevertheless there must be a word of warning against the possibility of duplicity, intrigue or subtle misunderstanding. A child born on this day may be capable in many directions, ambitious and well liked and should attain to an advanced position in life through its own efforts, despite the menace of secret enemies and conspiracies.

OPPOSE SCHOOL ABANDONMENT IN E. LIVERPOOL

Plan To Transport Pupils To City Taken To County Court

LISBON, Oct. 22.—The proposition to abandon the two room school known as Walker school, near East Liverpool and to transport the scholars to the East Liverpool public schools, is opposed by A. L. Blake and other taxpayers of the Walker district, and has reached the common pleas court.

Today afternoon, at the request of Blake, the case was presented to the court through Attorney S. W. Crawford. Judge Lones temporarily enjoined the members of the board of education of the East Liverpool school district or the Walker district from entering into a contract with parties for the transportation of children to the city school. Next Monday morning there will be a hearing in the matter before Judge Lones.

Blake claims that the board of education has advertised for bids for transporting the pupils from the Walker school district to the East Liverpool schools, with the intent of abandoning the Walker school, which is located on Kountz avenue, and which has been maintained there for more than 40 years.

The chief reason urged to the court against the proposition of the board of education is that the children will have to be transported over one of two highways, and neither of them are considered to be safe. One of these is known as Route 7 and it is unsafe, Blake urges, from Brady's Hollow to the city limits by reason of falling rocks, dirt and debris from the hillside, and the other, the Camp Ground road, has a steep and dangerous grade.

The members of the board of education who are named as defendants to the court action are J. T. Croxall, Dr. C. F. Kinsey, Florence Updegraff, Fred Glenn and John W. Vodey.

FROMM STARTS PEN SENTENCE

Former Stark County Commissioner Gives Self Up To Sheriff In Cleveland On Bribe Charge

CLEVELAND, Oct. 22.—Charles A. Fromm, former Stark county commissioner, surrendered to county officers here today to begin serving a sentence of 18 months to 10 years' sentence in Ohio penitentiary.

He is under conviction on a bribery charge in connection with letting of contracts for the Molly Stark hospital at Canton.

"Well boys, here I am all ready to go," Fromm said. The sheriff's office proceeded accordingly, and in less than 15 minutes Fromm was enroute by automobile, to the penitentiary at Columbus, in custody of a deputy.

by weaker producers. To advise spending money in these days seems cruelty, but the salmon industry will solve its problems by aggressive and intelligent advertising, and not otherwise.

Make the people realize the value of salmon as a food, its quality as distributed by the northwestern packers, its extraordinary cheapness in proportion to food value and the biggest run of salmon would not be enough to supply the demand.

DOES ADVERTISING PAY even in a "depression?" asked George W. Hill.

He sells cigarettes and advertises them.

In September the cigaret business generally fell off, according to the Wall Street Journal, for all manufacturers, by 160,513,333 as compared with September, 1929.

But G. W. Hill's sales increased by 655,429,000 as compared with September 1929.

Get something the people want, and let them know you have it by advertising it. There is no other way.

Yesterday in the far away, Niuaufu island of the South Pacific, scientists with huge cameras and other scientific instruments, praying for a clear sky were ready to study the sun's eclipse.

It was to last only 933 seconds then the sun will come out again sunily and resume its shining.

Some find it hard to believe that prosperity's eclipse which has lasted more than 93 seconds, will also surely pass, and prosperity come out again and resume its shining.

Many feel about prosperity's eclipse as primitive men felt about the sun's eclipse. They thought a demon was swallowing the sun, and they would never see it again.

The 22 insurance employees were herded from three rooms into one. Silent muzzles of shot gun and pistols loomed the work.

SUITS FILED IN COUNTY COURT

Auto Accident Cause Of Four Petitions For $20,000 Damages

LISBON, Oct. 22.—Four damage suits, aggregating $20,000, were filed in the common pleas court here Tuesday afternoon against F. W. Herche, of East Liverpool, by Anna Buck, Louisa Ross, Clara Sayres and Jane Murray, all of East Liverpool, for personal injuries sustained by them in a collision on the East Liverpool-Youngstown road on the night of June 30, last.

The accident happened, it is claimed, when Herche was driving on the wrong side of the road, going north, ran into the plaintiffs' car which was going south.

Anna Buck alleges that she sustained permanent injuries. Her injuries are such, she states, that she is unable to attend to her household duties. She asks $5,000 damages.

Louisa Ross alleges that she suffered back, shoulder and body injuries from which she suffers constantly; Clara Sayres sustained injuries to her spine and neck, and Jane Murray claims that she is bruised and disabled. Each asks $5,000 damages.

October 27 Set As Navy Day In U. S.

October 27, the birthday of the late president Theodore Roosevelt, has been chosen by the U. S. navy as the universal "navy day," as he was one of the navy's most staunch advocates.

The importance of the American navy is explained more clearly by ex-President Coolidge, who states that "Our American navy has always been much more than an arm of wartime defense."

"We may be very sure that in the future as in the past, the Navy's services to the industry and the arts of peace and science will continue completely to justify its maintenance in the highest efficiency."

Thieves Balked At Robbery Attempt

LISBON, Oct. 22.—Thieves broke into the office of the I. C. Bean Company, Saturday night, it has just been announced, by prying open a window with a bar which they took from a state truck. In an effort to get into the safe they jammed the lock, but failed to get into the safe.

The lock was so damaged that it was necessary to secure the services of the Diebold Safe & Lock Co. of Canton, who has as yet been unable to open the door. The thieves disturbed nothing else in the office.

It is supposed to have been the work of amateurs.

AMERICAN HELD FOR RANSOM AS REDS RAID CITY

Forces Ask $300,000 Cash For Release Of U. S. Mission Worker

BULLETIN SHANGHAI, Oct. 22.—Chinese press dispatches from Nanchang today said 8,000 men and women had been slaughtered since capture of Kian, Central Kiangsi province, by Communists hordes October 6. Burning and looting in the city accompanied the massacre.

SHANGHAI, Oct. 22.—Reports received from apparently reliable sources here today estimated that 60,000 persons were massacred when the fourth and fifth Red armies captured Kiang, Kiangsi province, on Oct. 6.

The attack occurred in the province where bandits and Communists recently have been making exorbitant demands for the release of foreigners captured by them.

The latest demand, and the highest received so far, is for $10,000,000. Missionary officers were advised that such a sum would be necessary for the release of six nuns and four priests kidnapped in

Aviator Returns To Fiancee After Absence Of 8 Months

(By Associated Press) SYDNEY, N. S. W., Oct. 22.—After an eight months' absence during which he flew nearly around the world and back again, Wing Commander Charles Kingsford-Smith today returned to his fiancée Miss Mary Powell, whom he will marry late next month.

The pretty girl, modestly clad in black and white, left her sick bed to greet him at Mascot airdrome as he arrived from Sydney, escorted by 15 planes, completing a record-breaking flight which has brought the provinces of Kiangsi and Kianfu.

An American, Bert Nelson of Minneapolis, is another being held for a ransom—$300,000 in this case. A rescue expedition of Nationalist troops was reported nearing headquarters of the Communist bandits holding Nelson today. He is a member of the United Lutheran mission.

Hoping to suppress the bandit armies, the government announced at Hankow today that it had negotiated a loan of $1,500,000 to finance an expedition starting out on November 1.

Roving armies of Chinese Communists and bandits have become, in recent weeks, a major problem threatening to overshadow the civil warfare from which the country has suffered for so many years.

MORAN DEFIANT AS POLICE SEEK LINGLE SLAYER

Gangless Gang Leader In Custody Of Police On Vagrancy Charge

(By Associated Press) CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—The spotlight of investigation flashing again today on the slaying June 9, of Alfred Lingle, Tribune reporter, revealed George (Bugs) Moran, gangless gang leader, in a gesture of defiance.

"I am not afraid of anyone," Moran declared on his return to Chicago on a vagrancy charge, following his arrest yesterday near Antioch. "Chicago is my home and I'm going to stay here. I won't be run out by cops, courts, citizens or crooks."

Asked by newspapermen where he had been since the Lingle's slaying, Moran said he had been "here and there" hunting and fishing. He added he could not be classed as a vagrant, having an income of around $25,000 a year as part owner of a cleaners and dyers company.

Moran is reputed to be an enemy of Alphonse Capone, notorious gang leader, and it was Lingle's friendship for Capone that inclined police to believe that Moran might have had something to do with the newspaperman's death. Moran insisted he had nothing against Capone. When asked by reporters who slew seven of his followers in a North Clark street garage a year ago last St. Valentine's day he only replied: "Santa Claus."

Held at the detective bureau, Moran was closely guarded and the police had no revelations to make of what, if anything they learned by questioning him.

it takes a lot less money to buy furniture today

Furniture has a price range probably as wide as any commodity. You have your choice of paying a few dollars for a bed, or you can get one for several thousand. You can pick up originals of the Queen Anne mode for a lot of money or you can buy authentic reproductions at low cost.

This makes a lot of things possible for people who are furnishing homes, especially newlyweds with small incomes. They can start in a small way and keep adding as a growing budget permits. They can maintain a satisfactory standard of living without financial strain.

One fact that is making young men and women study the price tags on wedding rings with added interest these days is the reduction in furniture and home furnishing prices. For example, a 9 by 12 Garaghanian Gulistan Oriental Rug that sold last month for $150 can now be bought for $125. And sixty-one dollars now will buy as much as a hundred dollars would ten years ago. This same fact is making their elders check their own furniture needs to take advantage of the attractive offerings now being made by this store.

They have the marvelous aroma that only choice tobaccos, mel-fused by golden sunshine, then expertly cured and superbly blended, can give a cigarette. There's nothing artificial about this delightful fragrance. No doctoring, no over-processing can produce it. Camel's refreshing mildness is there from the start.

HOSTS AT CLUB

Mr. and Mrs. I. H. Cooke, Cleveland street, were hosts to a group of relatives and friends Tuesday evening at the Salem Country club, west of the city. A covered dish dinner preceded an informal social time. Some of the guests were from Alliance, Berlin Center and Struthers.

Alfred Paxson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Paxson, Benton road, is suffering from an attack of typhoid fever.

Mrs. Cecil Paxson, South Lincoln avenue, was a Youngstown visitor Tuesday.

Today's Pattern

The charm and beauty of the cape mode is ably expressed in this delightful model suitable for afternoon or evening wear. Added grace is given through the narrow ruffling of self fabric edging the deep collar. The flared skirt points the bodice in an upward point that tends to slenderize the figure.

Pattern 1994 makes up beautifully in flat or canton crepe, satin, chiffon velvet, georgette, etc. A print or a solid color may be chosen in the new brown, green or wine shades or black. Bows are ultra smart as trimming this season.

May be obtained only in sizes 16, 18, 20, 24, 36, 40, and 42. Size 16 requires 4 1/2 yards of 39-inch material.

ATTY. GENERAL JAMES S. Y. ROBINSON

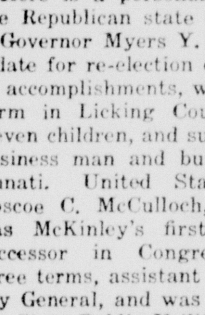

JUDGE OF STATE J. C. BROWN

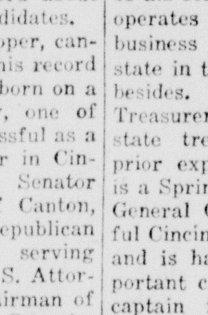

TREASURER EDWIN A. TODD

TREASURER HARRY S. DAY

JUDGE SUPREME COURT JAMES E. ROBINSON

JUDGE SUPREME COURT JAMES E. ROBINSON

Here is a personal word about the Republican state candidates.

Governor Myers Y. Cooper, candidate for re-election on his record of accomplishments, was born on a farm in Licking County, one of eleven children, and successful as a business man and builder in Cincinnati. United States Senator Roscoe C. McCulloch, of Canton, was McKinley's first Republican successor in Congress, serving three terms, assistant U. S. Attorney General, and was chairman of the State Public Utilities Commission when appointed to the Senate. Lieutenant Governor John T. Brown, of Mechanicsburg, is a "dirt farmer", possessor of a gold medal as Master Farmer, legislator for eight years, and good roads advocate. Secretary of State Clarence J. Brown was the youngest man ever elected Lieutenant Governor, overwhelming choice of the party members for another term in his present office, successful publisher of rural newspapers and lives in Blanchester. Harry S. Day of Fremont, nominated for State Treasurer on the strength of his former record in that office, operates a nursery which does business with farmers in every state in the union, and is a farmer besides. Edwin A. Todd, of Treasurer, short term, is assistant state treasurer, with ten years prior experience in banking. He is a Springfield product. Attorney General Gilbert Bettman, successful Cincinnati lawyer, who has won and is handling a number of important cases for the state, was a captain in the World war and prominently active in the work of the American Legion since; former vice mayor of Cincinnati.

Supreme Court Judge Reynolds R. Kinkadee of Toledo, served on the Common Pleas and Court of Appeals benches before election to his first term on the Supreme bench.

Supreme Court Judge James E. Robinson, of Marysville, was prosecuting attorney of Union county, judge of the Court of Appeals under appointment by Governor Willis and has been twice elected to the Supreme bench.

THE HOME KITCHEN

By Jeannette Young Norton

For the Sandwich List

Tacked on to a kitchen cabinet one mother of several schoolchildren keeps a list of sandwich ingredients. This, she says, is insurance against those blank mornings when she wonders what next, and the ordinary suggestions that pop into her mind seem unbearably monotonous.

A few good old standbys, kept on hand, are capable of infinite variation. Simple foods—like cream cheese, bacon, peanut butter, eggs, tomatoes, olives, shelled nuts, mushroom paste, honey, celery, can be used by themselves, or added to some cooked food in the icebox make a brand-new combination.

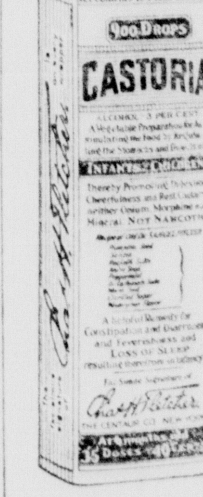

Mushroom paste, for example, if mixed with hard-boiled eggs, or as a spread with butter will be a basis for a substantial sandwich. On it may be placed a slice of tomato, or shredded lettuce, or chopped cooked vegetables like carrots, peas.

Chopped bacon mixed with hard-boiled eggs is another easy and pleasing combination, especially now that bacon is so generally advised as a food for even young children. It should be mixed with a simple dressing, lemon being the acid used, if any, or with some fresh tomato juice.

Peanut butter, although quite popular with children, should be spread thin, and if it is placed only on one side of the sandwich, soft butter being spread on the other, it will not be a thirst provoker. Leftover meat, like ham or chicken, chopped fine and mixed with chopped olives or nuts, makes a delicious sandwich. Some chopped celery or shredded lettuce can be mixed with it, thus providing the needful raw edge in the lunch-box, diced fine and mixed with some simple dressing or soft butter to bind them together, they are easy sandwich fillings.

CHILDREN

CRY FOR IT!

FIVE million modern mothers will tell you that children DO cry for Fletcher's Castoria. For mothers always give a few drops of this pure vegetable preparation when a child has any of the symptoms that tell of sluggish bowels, colic, or other upsets. When tiny tongues are coated and breath is bad. When a child is restless, irritable. Always soothing and comforting to an infant—yet it is effective for children in their teens. You never have to coax children to take Castoria; they love its taste.

Be ready for the next case of sour stomach, constipation, or other need for Castoria!

When buying look for the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher on wrapper.

LINDBERGH TO SURVEY ROUTE

New Passenger Service Will Be Inspected By Colonel

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, as chairman of the technical committee of the Transcontinental & Western Air, Inc., will leave tomorrow for a final survey of the route between Newark N. J., and Columbus, O., prior to the opening on Saturday of a 36-hour coast-to-coast mail and passenger service.

The new service will mark the first attempt to carry passengers on an all-air route across the country, the company having previously refused to carry passengers across the Alleghenies because of lack of proper equipment and facilities in the face of the generally prevalent poor weather conditions.

Col. Lindbergh will inspect the line with particular attention to safety factors.

He will make the flight in one of the new stream-lined tri-motored planes, leaving on the regular schedule at 8 a. m. and arriving in Columbus at 1:41 p. m. He will return on Friday over the same route.

FIRE DESTROYS BUILDINGS AT OHIO VILLAGE

Twenty Places Damaged As Blaze Ravages Williamsburg

BATAVIA, O., Oct. 22.—Seven buildings were destroyed and twenty others were damaged today by fire at Williamsburg, a village seven miles east of here.

County officials estimated the loss at $100,000 and believed the damage might reach larger figures if the flames spread to adjoining buildings.

The fire was reported to have started in the Band's pool room in the village business district. The cause was unknown but the flames quickly spread beyond Williamsburg fire fighting facilities and calls were sent to Batavia and Cincinnati for assistance.

The village wells were practically dry as a result of last summer's drought and firemen were forced to pipe water from the Little Miami river a quarter of a mile from the site of the conflagration.

The Bell Telephone building, Odd Fellows temple, Philbert Mahan coal office, Bell Telephone supply depot, Ellis, a heavy stable, Farmers' Mercantile bank and the Ed. Wise grocery were destroyed.

No persons were injured or burned.

MARKETS STOCKS DECLINE IN SALES TODAY

Rails, Industrials Fall To New 1930 Lows As Market Opens

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Active selling in small blocks during the earlier trading today broke most of the prominent rails and industrials to new 1930 lows before the decline was checked. Losses, however, were within the relatively moderate range of 1 to 3 points in all but a few instances, and the market became dull when the flurry of liquidation had been exhausted.

U. S. Steel dropped 2 1/2 to 143 1/2, a new low, before rallying about a point. Other leaders touching 1930 minimums were Standard Oil of New Jersey, Radio, General Electric, New York Central and Western Union.

Stocks losing 2 to 3 included Edison National Biscuit, International Harvester, Lewins, North American, Du Pont, Eastman Kodak and American Water Works. Allied Chemical, Westinghouse, Case, Lackawanna and Auburn Auto yielded 4 and Columbia Carbon 5. Call money renewed at 2 per cent.

HOME-MAKING HELPS

By Wanda Barton

No longer is it the worst job in the world. A lot of dishwashing has always been necessary. And now much of it is abbreviated and the rest made more tolerable by labor saving devices.

Just because three meals a day is served a day is no reason why there should be three dishwashing sessions a day. An investment in a liberal supply of dishes will cut down the hours of dishwashing. The old tale about the masculine method of running a house—using up new dishes at each meal and washing them about once a week—has just enough truth in it to make the idea laughable. Few homes could stand such extreme methods, but most homes can cut down on the three-times-a-day drudgery.

Of course, a large mechanical dishwasher is the best answer. Here dishes can be stacked after scraping, covered and left until another convenient or two makes dishwashing inevitable.

Without the mechanical dishwasher, however, it is still possible to do the job more easily than ever before. One of the least expensive and simple methods is the mechanical spray, which, attached to the faucet, gives the dishes a soapy shower and a clear rinse in a few moments. The hands need not touch hot water. All they need do is to place the rinsed dishes in a wire drainer and let them dry by themselves. No hand mopping, no hand drying.

The only thing requiring hand application is the perennial stain problem and this can be done with skill instead of elbow grease. A solution of borax and water will soak the brown stains out of baking dishes. Soda and boiling water will release burned food from enamel saucepans. Salt or soda will remove tea or coffee stains from china.

Also there are many special cleansers on the market which, when applied to metal utensils or dishes will remove all scars and stains, and they do not require rubbing—just a gentle application.

And one of the best ways to reduce pot-washing is to use fewer of them. Excellent results can be obtained by cooking in the parchment paper which is merely placed in hot water in a saucepan. The food that sticks, sticks to the paper, which is thrown away after each use, although it can be washed and used again.

Steeping to clean—or stretching, or kneading—is no longer considered a sign of scrupulous housewifery. It isn't necessary. Nor is it particularly good exercise, since it must be performed by carrying on indoors, without benefit of fresh air.

It's possible today to pursue any kind of housecleaning while reclining in a dignified upright position. Provided the right tools are used, with the right kind of cod liver oil with other valuable ingredients. Father John's Medicine brings all the benefits of cod liver oil in the form it will do the most good. Each tiny globule of oil is so finely broken up that it is easily and quickly assimilated by even the most delicate stomach. And it actually tastes good!

Just ask your druggist for Father John's Medicine. It is used regularly by over 184 hospitals and institutions. Give it regularly. You may be amazed and delighted at the results. Sometimes it is the one missing element that makes a vital difference in a child's health and vigor.

Because of its combination of handles. This handle of a brush isn't merely its back, something by which it can be grasped. But it should be the right length of an extension, which acts as leverage, enabling one to exert a good deal of needful pressure easily. Also it is like an extended arm—making far corners accessible without bending or stretching.

Brooms, dustpans, brushes, can all be obtained with handles of any length. And it is better that the user shall hold the article in position before purchasing, in order to make sure that the handle is the right size—not too long, or too short, too heavy in the hand and so on.

In addition to big brushes and brooms and mops for heavy cleaning of floors, woodwork, furniture, there are many brushes of smaller size which can be obtained with handles to suit. Round bristled brushes on twisted wire handles make it easy to keep bottles, jugs, cord mops of varying sizes can be kept on hand to give sudsy baths to small corners in drawers and cupboards, or uncertain dark corners.

A small investment in an assortment of long and medium handled mops and brushes will save time, drudgery, and beautiful hands.

Women Discussed At Grange Affair
Mrs. D. R. McConnell, master of Greenford grange, gave a talk on "Women and Citizenship" at a meeting of the grange Tuesday evening at the hall.

"Citizenship" was the study subject and those who discussed it were Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Matthews, Mrs. W. D. Roller, D. R. McConnell and J. C. Slagle.

Lester Calvin gave a reading and Mrs. Edith Weikart contributed a poem.

Plans were completed for the Mahoning county Pomona grange meeting, which will be held Saturday at this grange hall. Officers will be nominated at a meeting on Nov. 4.

MOVIES

AT THE STATE

"Sweet Mama"
Alice White's latest First National starring vehicle, "Sweet Mama," is now at the State theater.
Supporting the star are such favorites as the stage idol, David Manners, of "Journey's End" fame; Kenneth Thompson, Rita Flynn, Lee Moran, Richard Cramer and Robert Elliott.

"Sweet Mama" was adapted and dialogue written by its author, Earl Baldwin. Edward Cline directed the picture, which is said to present an entirely new and interesting angle on the ever-thrilling relations of big-town gangsters and their chorus girl friends.

AT THE GRAND

"Ladies Love Brutes"
George Bancroft's newest picture, "Ladies Love Brutes," is at the Grand theater tonight.

In this newest Paramount release, the mighty Bancroft is cast as a rivet-tossing "steel Monkey" who becomes such a success in his trade as a two-fisted steel construction man that he sets up a contracting business of his own. He gains a moderate amount of wealth but discovers that he is handicapped by lack of social position. Accordingly he plans to make a social lion of himself. Mary Astor, a young society matron, falls in love with Bancroft.

Villainy enters the scenes in the person of Stanley Fields, a racketeering labor agitator. The climax comes when Bancroft encounters Fields in a stirring battle of guns and fists.

THIEVES ESCAPE IN JEWEL THEFT

Two Couples Stripped Of $64,000 In Jewelry In Chicago Holdup

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—Two couples were stripped of jewels valued at $64,000 early today by three holdup men who duplicated features of the recent daring robbery of Mrs. William Hale Thompson, wife of Chicago's mayor.

The victims, George E. Crandall and Ralph Gardner, brokers, and their wives, were returning to the Crandall apartment in a gold coast residential building after attending a fashion show.

As they stepped from a taxicab in the driveway of the building the robbers, displaying pistols, warned the women not to "scream or move." They took two rings, one valued at $30,000, a bracelet and necklace from Mrs. Crandall and a $10,000 bracelet from Mrs. Gardner. Crandall yielded $50.

The robbers allowed Mrs. Crandall to retain her wedding ring and Mrs. Gardner a diamond ring, present from her husband.

The cab chauffeur followed the holdup's automobile but lost the trail at an intersection.

COURT NEWS

To Settle Claim

Judge Lodge Riddle of the probate court has authorized the settlement of a damage claim filed by Clyde A. Matheny, guardian of James A. Matheny, aged 4 years, for personal injuries sustained by his ward, with Margaret Catlett, of Wellsville for $4,500.

The court has also authorized Charles Bertolotto, administrator of the estate of Ethel Dalrumple, late of Washingtonville, with the Columbiana Storage & Warehouse Co. for the wrongful death of deceased for $1,400.

Salem Lot Sold

W. W. Brown, receiver for the Victor Stove company of Salem, appointed some time ago in the case filed against the Salem concern by the Superior Sheet Steel company, reported to the court that he had sold outfit 284 and a part of lot 5187 located at Mill street and South Freedom avenue in Salem, to W. W. Andrews of Salem, for $100, plus the taxes and assessments.

The receiver stated to the court that the tax valuation of the property is $350, but he has offered it for sale several times and has been unsuccessful in his efforts to sell it. Judge Lones confirmed the sale and ordered a deed made.

Court Gets Claim

A claim amounting to $2,000 presented in the common pleas court by Homer Crouse, against the estate of the late Margaret Crouse, of Columbiana, was allowed by Judge Lones when the matter was heard, the costs in the case being assessed against the estate. The amount for which judgment was entered was found due on a note given by the deceased to Homer Crouse.

Homer Crouse in another action filed, asked that he be given judgment for a like amount against the estate of the late Louis Crouse of Columbiana, claiming this amount due him for services rendered the deceased. This claim was not allowed by the court.

Refused New Trial

Miss Cora Pritchette of Salem, who was given a verdict by a jury in court several days ago for $285 and costs against the city of Salem, in the $10,285 damage case filed by her by reason of injuries received when she slipped and fell upon the icy sidewalk near the Mullins plant, asked for a new trial. On Tuesday afternoon Judge Lones overruled the motion for the same and entered judgment of the verdict.

OUR READERS

WATER AT GULFORD

Editor, The News:

The fact that the lockgate at the Gulford lake has been closed again for three weeks does not seem to be generally known by the public. Only a few seem to be acquainted with this fact, which for some reason has been kept quiet, as it has not been made known in the paper. Maybe it has been kept quiet so that those people at West Point would not know it, or maybe our officials were afraid some farmer on the lower end might kick because his stock runs out of water.

I do not know about that, but I do know that at present there is at least 60 acres flooded with water although it does not show that much, on account of the high weeds. Last Thursday or Friday, one of our state officials, who looks after the stocking up with fish in such lakes, was at Gulford, and from what I can hear, made a favorable comment about the place, and the water with which it is to be filled, after he had looked everything over, and admitted the whole to be much better than what he had expected to find.

So let us hope that from now on we may look forward to have a good sized lake in the near future. It sure does look nice to see the water rise day by day and in a few weeks we will have a considerable splash of water around here. Let us hope that with the lake we may also get a decent road so people can get to it without bumping their heads on the top of their machines.

Ohio State Starts Work Towards Stronger Offensive Attack

THE DAY In Sports

ANCIENT SPORT EVENTS

Devotees of the rod and gun will be interested in facts brought out in a book written by A. J. Butler, entitled "Sport In Classic Times." This is a book first for hunters and fishers, and second for those who like to realize that the ancients were really quite human! Plato knew the details of sport, and used them in his philosophy; Xenophon was the greatest sportsman of his time, and found the knowledge acquired in hunting of no small use during the famous retreat of the Ten Thousand. Today, sport is often attacked as cruel; just as often, we are told to go back to the ancients; and those who exemplify the spirit of the ancients are not only not killed but practiced nearly if not quite all the kinds of sport followed today.

They hunted big game and little; they fished and went fowling; only some of the weapons they used were different. Armed only with spear and knife and shield they hunted lions and panthers and tigers; and they fished for the giant fish called the salmon with a team of oxen! But horse and hound were well beloved by them, and the important points of each known and carefully described, while if bamboo rods were not yet invented they found fairly good substitutes in rods of cornel wood.

Our author asserts, and seems to prove quite conclusively, that the rod was by no means unknown to the sportsmen of two thousand years ago. And in fowling they used decoys of painted wood which "furnish strange examples of the nearness of the ancient to the modern world," just as the story of hunting wild boars and stags with the aid of a flute-player furnishes an example of the distance between them.

The book tells clearly, and with the sympathy natural to one who is himself a sportsman, of that love of dogs and horses which was such an outstanding characteristic among the ancients. Arrian gives a lively account of the intelligence and affectionate disposition of his pet hound that will awaken an echo in the heart of any dog-lover of the present day, and Ovid writes fervently of the "proud carriage and noble spirit" of the horse. For if these dogs and horses of the ancients would belong to breeds somewhat unlike those cherished today, their essential spirit was the same, just as the fisherman who today angles for trout with his skillfully manufactured artificial fly may in thought reach out a sympathetic hand across the centuries to his brother-fisherman of 100 A. D. who wrapped a bit of dark red wool round a hook and tied on a couple of small feathers. It is published by the E. P. Dutton company in New York.

Friends of football realize that sport is by no means an aged competition. Fishing, hunting and various track and field events are ancient, known in stories in school days, Greek and Roman activities while the first Americans, the Indians, had their forms of athletics and were among the hardest race ever on this continent. Over in England there has been erected a statue in honor of the youth who years ago tucked a Rugby football under his elbow and dashed down the gridiron for a touchdown's a gross violation of Rugby rules but an action which resulted in the origin of modern-day football. Representatives of A. G. Spalding company discovered golf by ancient long ago when a salesman wondered at the "funny sticks" an Englishman was carrying, and so on down through the realms of sport, is romance is exceedingly interesting.

Football is to be a certain extent accused by being a game played too greatly for profit. Its opponents cite the giant stadia built in various cities and also criticize Salem college officials for Reilly field. In colleges fieldhouses are built with profits from football, other great things are accomplished and the grid sport supports school activities which, without football, could not be a part of the school. In Salem football also is an aid to school finances—track is supported by the grid receipts, and last year little was realized from basketball, forcing the school at times to obtain funds from the grid receipts to make the basketball budget show any balance. Baseball once was the national sport but no more. Hunting and fishing outnumber its players and followers continually attracts larger numbers and baseball, boxing and others are gradually, but surely, being forced into the background as sideline activities of the summer.

New Quarterback May Be Picked In Practices For Wisconsin Game

COLUMBUS, Oct. 22.—A realignment of the field strategy department of the Ohio State football team was expected when the squad reassembled to begin practice for the homecoming Wisconsin game at Ohio Stadium, Nov. 7, today.

A conference between Head Coach Sam Willaman and his assistants, Don Miller and George Hauser, was held Tuesday at which a selection of a more experienced player to call offensive plays in the huddle was to be made.

Coach Willaman is still loud in his praise of Lew Hinchman, varsity quarterback since the season started, but he feels a player with more of a Western Conference background and one who has been through at least one season of competition would use calmer judgment in the pinches.

May Select Fesler

Willaman was unwilling to make a nomination for the position without consulting his assistants, but he indicated that Wesley Fesler, Ohio State's old standby in its hour of need, would be his own selection.

He also said he felt Marty Varner, blocking halfback, could handle the job, although he has had no more experience than Hinchman.

Willaman intimated that Hinchman's failure to follow instructions possibly was caused by his being called upon to do too much work. Hinchman is a vital part of every offensive play and Buckeye runs, either as a runner or a blocker in addition to having the selection of plays at his disposal. Although some player other than Hinchman will call the signals, he will retain his position as the left wing back on offense and the safety man on defense.

Regardless of who is chosen to select the plays it will make no difference in the manner in which the team lines up.

Willaman said he expected Fesler to play in the backfield more often in future games, not only for his punting, which is characterized as superior, but also for his kicking and throwing forward passes.

Aid to Offense

This will give the Buckeyes a real triple threat man in the backfield for the first time. He also stated the work on the development of a series of plays to be run from a punt formation, which will greatly increase the variety of the Buckeye offense, would be begun this afternoon.

Willaman further declared the failure of Ohio State's offense on forward passes was almost solely the fault of those throwing the passes. He said the heavier time and again failed to properly "lead" the receiver, forcing the latter to either stop in his tracks to attempt to make the catch or, on more than one occasion, to turn around and retreat in order to get near the ball.

He further pointed out that Fesler, because of his great speed in football, would have been able to make several catches if the ball had been thrown ahead of him instead of behind him in the Michigan game and at the same time enable him to leave Michigan's defenders behind.

Willaman Disappointed

Ohio State's failure to score against Michigan was a keen disappointment to Willaman as it was to every other State partisan. According to plans revealed to this writer just before the game, Willaman's strategy was to score quickly in the first quarter.

His hopes had been built on Fesler's fortune in winning the toss, and his choice of having the wind at his back. Things worked out as hoped for up to that point.

The plan was to kick on second down twice, thus forcing Michigan gradually back into its own territory. As Fesler's kicking showed this would have been possible had the plan been followed.

It would then have been time to open up the crashing tackle attack and punch the ball straight down the field. Instead the crushing offensive was started too far in Ohio State territory and when the Buckeyes arrived in scoring territory their punch was spent.

CRUCIAL GAMES SCHEDULED FOR THIS SATURDAY

Wisconsin Clashes With Purdue, Michigan To Meet Illinois

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—Even though the Western Conference goes into a temporary hibernation period this Saturday two clashes are on the program which may change the entire tenor of the championship race.

Two as yet unbeaten eleven, Wisconsin and Michigan, meet traditional enemies which loom as real hurdles in their climb toward the 1930 Big Ten crown.

In Purdue the powerful Wisconsin team meets the defending champions of 1929, and the boiler-makers are still smarting under the 14 to 13 defeat handed them by Michigan at the season's opening.

The eyes of most Big Ten partisans are turned on the Badger-Boiler-maker struggle.

Although Wisconsin will go to Lafayette, Ind., fresh from the decisive victory over Pennsylvania and the Purdue team will take the field with a patched up backfield due to injuries, Saturday's clash is expected to be close and hard fought.

Some 86,000 persons are expected to crowd into Michigan's stadium to see the undefeated Wolverine team do battle with Coach Bob Zuppke's as yet downtrodden group. The Michigan team, which presumably hit its stride with victories over Purdue and Ohio has resolved to take the green Illinois team in that stride.

However, injuries from the Ohio tilt may leave the Michigan machine weakened. Cox is on the sidelines with a bruised knee and Daniels may not be in shape Saturday. Zuppke, still juggling his team around, entertains a hope that Illinois may rise up and trip the traditional foe.

In other Big Ten camps things are at a standstill for the week end. Iowa, Ohio and Minnesota are not playing at all. Chicago engages Mississippi Northwestern takes on Center College and Indiana goes to Dallas to play Southern Methodist.

Seeks to Capture Coast-to-Coast Record

Stanley Boynton, 18-year-old Lexington, Mass. boy, is now at the Boston Airport, where he is testing his plane for a proposed hop to the west coast. He is trying to lower the cross-country juvenile record which is now held by Frank Buck, of New Jersey.

Ready to Uphold Family Tradition

Clarence Buehner, of Salt Lake City, Utah, is prepared to equal or surpass the great sports record that has been compiled by the five brothers preceding him at Granite High School and College. His oldest brother, Carl, started in family off in an athletic way in 1915 when he won nine letters in various sports.

Mullins Injured For Pitt Battle

SOUTH BEND, IND., Oct. 22.—Knute Rockne was back on the job telling bedtime "bear" stories today as he drilled his Notre Dame squad for the Pittsburgh game.

"The Panthers are a strong combination and we must be at our best to beat them," Rockne told his men. "Remember, too, that the price of success is eternal vigilance."

Larry Mullins worked with the varsity at fullback last night but limped so badly that it was feared he would be out of the Pitt game.

County Grid Activities Columbiana Meets Hubbard

COLUMBIANA, Oct. 22.—Coach Mearl Atkins is pointing his Columbiana High school football lads toward another victory, if possible, this Saturday, when Hubbard High is met on its own field.

Regardless of the outcome of future games, the Columbiana season will be a success, because the boys have already won two games, and that is two more victories than most local fans expected at the start of the season.

Coach Atkins began work the first of September with only two players of any experience, and his material, for the most part, was light in weight. By perseverance, and with a fine knowledge of the fundamentals of the game, he earned the respect of his players, with the result that they have, for the most part, worked hard to learn the essentials, and that they also acquired some scoring plays in shown by the result of last Saturday's victory over Canfield, 19-0.

The other victory was a close one, Leetonia being defeated by the narrow margin of a touchdown goal, 7-6.

Bruder Trains For Football While Ill

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—Be it a football stonewall or hospital, Hank Bruder cannot be stopped.

Instead of folding up in the customary invalid fashion until he recovers from a slight attack of snailpox, the star jinx hero of Northwestern's football team is training for a comeback daily in the rear yard of the isolation hospital.

With another patient, Bruder passes footballs all over the lot and goes through the kicking and running motions that have made him a terror along the Big Ten football front.

"I'll be back for that Minnesota game, November 1," Bruder said.

Notre Dame Favored In Game With Panthers On Saturday

By HERBERT W. BARKER, Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Knute Rockne's Notre Dame football eleven makes its first sally of the season into the east next Saturday to battle the rugged Panthers of Pittsburgh.

After Carnegie Tech's crushing defeat at South Bend last week the Panthers can be nothing but decided short-enders against Rockne's men, who have beaten Southern Methodist, Navy and Carnegie Tech and find ahead of them Pitt, Indiana, Penn. Drake, Northwestern, Army and Southern California.

Pitt has waded through four straight games without yielding the opposition a point. "The Panthers" victims included West Virginia and Syracuse, both major elements of decided strength, even so, the most the Panthers reasonably can hope for is a close score. Rockne's team seems to have everything, speed, deception, power, reserve strength and an excellent defense.

Yale Meets Army
Yale stacks up against unbeaten

Army in a contest that should draw 75,000 to the Yale Bowl and 55,000 are expected to watch Harvard attempt to stop Dartmouth's powerful array which has piled up 225 points against none for the opposition in four games.

Two more contenders for eastern honors, Fordham and New York university, clash in the Yankee stadium in a duel between the Violets fleet sophomore backs and Fordham's unyielding defense.

There will be no lack of color in the meeting between Navy and Princeton although both have been beaten and Temples unbeaten record will be at stake as the Owls swing into action against Villanova. It will be an old rivalry in a new setting when Washington and Jefferson meets Lafayette in an indoor night game at Atlantic City.

Penn State and Colgate, both checked last Saturday, the first in a scoreless tie with Lafayette and the other in a 14-7 beating by Michigan State, will try to take it out on each other at State College, Pa.

Electric Service Is the Cheapest Thing In the Home Today

Inspection Proves Preventative For Ailments Of Batteries

Salem Firm Presents Opportunity To All Motorists For Tests

Tendency of the day toward specialist work is as evident in the motor field as in the other lines of business, and nowhere is it more needed than in the electric service on cars. Development of the more general use of electricity in autos, and the better use of the present electric parts calls for a degree of expert knowledge in the service that has resulted in the building of businesses like that of the Beall Battery and Electrical Shop, at 136 Penn avenue.

Speed Necessary In Transportation

Quick transportation has become a necessity. It may have been the custom in Salem, as in other parts of the country, to leisurely walk to appointments, both business and social, in the happy days of long ago, but nowadays a man or woman of affairs must make it snappy, and in doing so counts that time between affairs as wasted.

Consequently everybody uses taxicabs. Upon the promptness and faithfulness of their service people depend to eke out the days that are never long enough.

My lady with a social engagement across town, the business man with a trip to the outskirts, people who are going away and even a few for the sheer joy of driving, find their needs supplied quickly, efficiently and at low prices by calling up either 901 or 225, the phone numbers of the Wright Taxi company.

This line operates new and well kept Chevrolet sedans, manned by their trained drivers and the courtesy that makes their services a pleasure.

This concern has equipped itself to care for all the electric needs of an automobile or truck, putting in a number of special electric devices.

This, with the careful work of men who are qualified well to do the electrical work, has resulted in the building of a fine business along these lines, the company servicing some of the largest accounts and fleet owners in Salem. Anything in the electrical work of an automobile and battery service gets expert attention.

The tendency of specialization in auto repair work is inevitable, because it enables an organization of specialists who become expert in their lines of work. The electrical systems of automobiles are increasing in importance with all new models, and their proper servicing means much to the comfort and satisfaction of an auto driver as well as to the economy of operation, especially during the winter months. Specially trained men who are daily confronted with the problems presented by these electrical systems, are able to do the work quicker and better than a mechanic who meets such problems only at rare intervals. Beall concern is a specialist in the line, with experience and thorough training, and hence is able to develop the auto electric systems into the fullest efficiency at the least use of time.

CHOICE OF GAS, OIL IMPORTANT TO AUTOMOBILE

Sheen Service Station Is Dealer In Freedom Products

It would appear that in the choice of both gasoline and lubricating oil for its patrons use, the Sheen Super Service station, with its station at 838 North Lincoln avenue, has selected winners. This company handles the products of the Freedom Oil company, which is addition to being one of the big fellows in the business is also one of the oldest and most experienced. Freedom gasoline and Freedom motor oils are both at the top of the heap.

This gasoline is compounded differently from most of them. The tendency is in gasoline to make some one feature predominant. This one was select quick-starting to the sacrifice of the solid elements so useful for sustained power as the selling point and therefore neglect the easy starting. Both of these may excel in their lines, but it would take both of them combined to make the kind of gasoline the Freedom has as its ideal — one that in general all around efficiency is a leader; that combines the quick starting power with the sustained force.

Freedom gasoline is splendidly balanced. It combines easy starting and quick pick-up with smooth, complete, carbonless combustion in absolute uniformity day in and day out. The Sheen Station has many customers who are most enthusiastic about Freedom gasoline and who look for the Freedom sign before they stop at a station.

For Freedom motor oils much can be said. Paraffine based, it is extremely long lived. In fact, it is advertised as a motor oil that will wear out, resisting heat and wear and retaining a high degree of viscosity at all times. The claim is confidently made that in actual use its wearing qualities will afford higher satisfaction and greater economy.

The Sheen station maintains a washing and lubricating service, both under high pressure, and has a clean service.

Horse Far From Passe; Salem Man Still Retains Interest

Not many years ago people declared that the horse as a work animal was doomed. Pictures were drawn of horseless streets, horseless farms, and machine development that would entirely supplant man's long-time aid. But somehow these pictures failed to materialize. Men can do an immense amount of work that is adapted to mechanical equipment, and in that way spare the horse, some of its hardest tasks, but they have found that they still need the intelligence and power of the big draft animals in farm and dairying operations.

Now that the novelty of mechanical equipment has worn off, and hard headed men have come down to a consideration of the facts, there is a revival of interest in draft animals.

M. W. Hannay, with his home and office at 538 Columbia street, phone 1076, is one of the people who has never lost his faith that the horse had a definite place that could not be supplanted by mechanical power. In his draying business he does a great deal of heavy work, and has specially built drays of unusually heavy construction. With a team of his big horses attached to these he can move just about anything that is not anchored down.

Mr. Hannay also has quite a trade in draft horses. He buys, sells and trades these animals, and can supply teams of matched heavyweights for almost any purpose on short notice. His trade extends to a considerable part of eastern Ohio and Western Pennsylvania, and his judgment of good horse flesh is eagerly sought by both farmers and industrialists.

Ohio Restaurant Known To Tourists As Real Inviting

A good restaurant is an asset to the city. People who visit Salem are quite likely to form their impressions of the community from the experiences they have in the public places, and if one of them happens to be a good restaurant where the inner man is perfectly satisfied the impression there given will stay with them longer than most other experience.

Thus people in Salem never have any hesitancy in directing strangers to the Ohio, at 604 East State street, where they may be sure the food will be excellent, and well served. In fact, many Salem people make an occasional change from home food by taking the whole family to this popular place, where Proprietor William Nyktas offers both table and counter service. Nyktas is especially careful of his meats. He buys in large quantities, cuts up the meat himself, and therefore knows just what his patrons like. He will select his meats after most careful inspection and will buy any quantity necessary to get choice beef. In fact, it is to his close personal supervision of every detail that Nyktas owes the reputation and prosperity of this eating place.

SMALL SHOES NEED REPAIRS

Special Skill Is Needed In Repairing Shoes Of Children

Mother and father owe it to Sonny to see that his shoes are kept in such shape as to save his feet from later troubles. Sonny is tough on shoes. They never occur to him as being of any value, and he will poke his toe in a bonfire sublimely unconscious of the fact that leather will not stand such treatment. So his shoe bills are big, and the repair bills are not trifling.

Now Sonny's feet demand the kind of repairs that will enable him to be just as active as he pleases, and yet stand up. Where to get them is ever a problem which many people have solved to their satisfaction by taking the shoes to Paul Borlas' shop at 747 East State street, where expert workmanship uses only the best of materials in making the repairs, and where the equipment is first class.

Mr. Borlas likes to have the youngsters' jobs come in before the shoes have gone to pieces — says people would really save money by having the repairs done a little bit earlier. But he will tell the customer when the shoe is not worth fixing, and if he says it can be repaired one may be sure of a workmanlike job with good materials.

FEED FACTOR IN CHICK RAISING

Experts Place Results Of Research In Real Balanced Diets

Profit in poultry raising, most authorities insist, depends upon two factors, proper sanitation and correct feeding. Chickens must be pushed through to early maturity and yet given the food that results in real stamina, for egg production as secured now-a-days is away beyond the original demands on the hen and there has been developed in her a degree of production that demands an enormous amount of feed and strong digestive organs.

This necessitates a great deal more attention to the feeding than was formerly thought necessary. For years poultrymen have been using growing mash, consisting of food that is especially adapted to the needs of the young chicken and from the chicken's standpoint, especially appetizing. This has more frequently been supplemented by what is generally called a "chick starter"—a food especially adapted to the very young chicks.

Among these feeds that have gained a great deal of popularity locally as well as all over the country is the brand called Purina, consisting of six different chows.

Splendid results have been attained with all of these, and their popularity among the poultry raisers of the vicinity is on the increase. A dairy feed bearing the same name is also made, and it too has met a popular demand as an increaser of milk production. Purina feeds are prepared for all domestic animals, and a wealth of information is ready for the progressive feeder at the A. W. Glass feed store, 121 Hawley avenue, which is headquarters for Purina feeds in this territory.

Service, Skill And Price Has Built Real Reputation

Monk's garage has been in its present location, 292 West State street, for a short time but has built a real reputation for service. Speaking of it recently a man who had gone in for some slight repairs told the writer "This is one of the finest garages I ever saw. They seem to be real mechanics, men who know how to locate your trouble and waste no time on fixing it up, and the quick service I got cost me less than I expected when I entered the place."

Now, after all is said, that is about as nice a compliment as a car owner could give a garage, and from the reputation of the concern it seems to be deserved.

You will note that the driver who is quoted got the three things that every motorist wants to find in a garage—prompt service, skilled mechanics and fair prices. Of this triad of graces perhaps the greatest of graces is the second one. A skilled mechanic is always prompt because he knows what to do, and as he is skilled he wastes no time, so the cost of his services is reasonable. As one driver to another, that is the kind of service one looks for—alas, too often in vain. So it is well to remember Monk's Garage for a mighty good reason.

All night and Sunday storage is provided at this place, which is open for service also.

WINONA

The annual meeting of the guild was held Friday evening in the basement of the Methodist church. Mrs. Willard Pim, president of the guild, presided. The program was opened by singing "The King's Business." Rev. Lydia Brantingham had charge of the devotionals and gave a short talk on "Giving" or "Christian Stewardship."

Sing Duet
Vera and Verina Barber sang. Mrs. Williams of the Salvation Army at Salem, gave a few brief remarks, telling of their work. Mr. Williams also spoke a few minutes. Willard Pim sang a solo, "Love for Others."

The business meeting was given as a demonstration. The secretary and treasurer's reports were given. A letter from Mrs. Anna Forsyth of Philadelphia, Pa., who was instrumental in organizing this guild, was read by her daughter, Mrs. Walter Satterthwaite. Margaret and Martha Allison sang "Open the Door for the Children."

The officers are elected for a two year term and are as follows: President, Mabel Edgerton; vice president, Mabel Satterthwaite; secretary, Mary Woolman; treasurer, Lillie Lovton.

Attend Funeral
Among the relatives who attended the funeral of Rev. J. M. Carter at New Waterford, Friday were: Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Coppock, Mrs. S. J. Mountz, Mr. and Mrs. J. Richard Stamp and daughter Jane, and J. W. Stamp. A large number of friends from this community also attended.

STOP BAD BREATH

Thousands of people afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know. Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous colic does without any of the bad after effects. Olive Tablets brings no griping pain or any disagreeable effects. Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after 20 years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint, with the attendant bad breath. Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound; you will know them by their olive color. Take nightly for a week and note the effect. 15c, 30c, 60c.

Don't Go to Extremes To End Constipation

When bad breath, or a coated tongue, biliousness or headaches warn of constipation, don't take violent purgatives. There's no use when a candy Cascaret will stop the trouble in a jiffy; will cleanse your system pleasantly and completely.

The relief you get so promptly from Cascarets is lasting. Cascarets are made from cascara, a substance which medical authorities agree actually strengthens the bowel muscles.

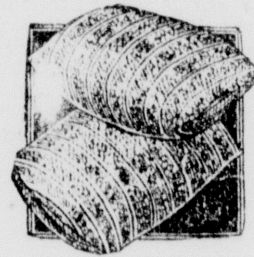

So Cascarets are a blessing to old folks with weakened bowels; to children; to anyone in need of establishing regular bowel habits. Try cents a box—all drug stores. Adv

THE CHAUFFEUR gives his reasons for sticking to FREEDOM

"DRIVING a car for a living, I ought to know good gas and oil. I like Freedom best. Freedom Ethyl gives the peppy, quiet, knock-free motor my passengers want. And Freedom Perfect Oil, made from 100% Pennsylvania crude, keeps repair bills way down, another important reason for my boss thinking I'm a pretty good chauffeur.

"Even though it isn't my money, I like to buy from these independent Freedom Stations, too, for I know their profits stay right here at home. Oil and gas that you can't beat and profits for our local dealers.... good reasons why I always stick to Freedom."
